Power Magnate's Inspection

Walter S. Wyman and Guy P. Gamett of the Central Maine Power Co. of Augusta were here Tuesday and looked over the power and railroad situation.

They did not make public their conclusions regarding the railroad further than to say if they could break even in operating it they would be satisfied.

They felt that one set of rails into Norway ought to do all the business, both passenger and freight and that a loop might be made from the depot into the village and the rails of the branch could be used.

Walter L. Gray of South Paris was with them during their visit and accompanied them to West Paris where they intended to extend their power line to the new station. They also were called on by Geo. P. Morton, Clarence Morton of South Paris, Albert J. Stearns, E. C. Cummings, F. R. Seavey of Norway.

Daylight Saving—Yes or No? A move for daylight saving has been gaining momentum in Norway during the past two weeks. No definite action has been taken to set the clocks ahead one hour as proposed. A census has been taken in the factories and shops with a vote in favor of going ahead one hour. The selectmen want to hear from the people of the town to find out whether the plan is wanted or not. Telephone or send a card to the selectmen stating your views.

BASEBALL

Edward Little 1st. Norway High 3. Edward Little High sluggers caused the defeat of Norway High at Auburn, Saturday afternoon. The whirlwind third and fatal seventh innings jinxed every aspiration Norway might have fostered regarding pacing their opponents.

Edward Little hit freely and kept the ball on the jump. They touched Rice for nine hits in three innings and got after Purington's delivery with six safe ones in 5 innings. Fogg for Edward Little escaped more easily by allowing only five hits for nine innings.

Both teams played strong at base stealing. Charles Cummings, pretty one handed catch, which robbed Jordan of a sure two bagger, proved a star show and the Amateurs were not slow to recognize the unusual feat.

The show was staged by Frank Stairs before a fair crowd. "Cyk" Shaw of South Paris was unable to appear in the preliminary against Ray Cummings, Prudent Bedard of Norway was impressed into the game. This contest went two falls of four minutes each with Cummings the winner. Bedard was drawn into the scissor and gave up on both occasions before the squeeze was applied.

A special boxing exhibition was given in three rounds lasting two minutes each with Fred Banks, the local trainer, and Hollis McGinley of South Paris the principals. This was a special show, much plenty of action registered. McGinley was a new one before Norway spectators but made good with his knowledge of mitt exercise. Trainer Banks played lively and featured the clinch which was broken repeatedly by referee Stairs.

The officials during the show were: referees, Stairs and Bolos Beter; timer, "Mickey" Welch.

TWICE-TOLD TESTIMONY

Norway People Are Doing All They Can For Fellow Sufferers

Norway testimony has been published to prove the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills to others in Norway who suffer from bad backs and kidney ills. Lest any sufferer doubt this evidence of merit, we produce confirmed proof—statements from Norway people who again endorse Doan's Kidney Pills—confirm their former testimony. Here's a Norway edice:

S. C. Foster, barber, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and I am only too glad to say to others I think they are the best of kidney medicines. Several years ago I had kidney trouble. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at F. P. Stone's Drug Store and I was soon feeling all right again. I remained so for a long time, but later caught cold and my kidneys gave me trouble. I again took Doan's and they gave me relief."

EIGHT YEARS LATER, Mr. Foster added: "I still think as well of Doan's Kidney Pills today as when I first endorsed them. I used them occasionally, as I feel in need of them and I am always promptly benefited."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Foster had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

CLARK WRITES A LETTER

D. Crommett Tells of Fred Keith and Other Oxford County People and Also Asks Some Questions

Somerville, Mass., Apr. 29, 1920.

Fred Keith amazed Osman Warren Brown and myself, the other day, by walking into the Lynn Telegram-News news rooms. He knew that Mr. Brown was to be found there, but was surprised to see me, said that he was sorry to find me looking so old, and I told him that I was glad to see his looking so young. Fred—his full name is Frederick Lawrence Keith—really is not looking a day older than his age, six months my junior, and just turned 49 years. He appears well and prosperous.

Fred gave me quite a little history of his war experiences. He was in Milwaukee late in the year 1914, when he decided to enlist. So he jacked his job, bought a ticket for Toronto, and found that he was too old for the combatant forces, so enlisted in the railroad army service of Canada. He thinks that no other Oxford county man of nearly his age succeeded in going to the war. The date of his enlistment was Dec. 3, 1914, and 12 days later his regiment embarked at Halifax, N. S., for England. After a long and stormy voyage, during which much time was lost by going out of the way and zigzagging, on account of the fear of German submarines, they landed in Liverpool, early in the year 1915. Something more than two years were spent in the English war land transport service, and he was encamped at Sorncliffe, Windsor National Park, and Plumtree at various times.

While at Windsor, he saw the King, but the King let him alone, which suited Fred, for he is a Democrat with a big D. He also saw the Prince of Wales, shook hands with him several times, and declares that the Prince is a regular fellow and would make a good American if he had a chance.

Finally Fred was sent to France for railway army transport service there and during most of the time was at the Etaples camp. That was one of the camps which the German aviators persistently raided, and they killed 14 nurses there in one night. Fred escaped casualties, but the air raids were among the things which made him think that North America is God's country.

On his return, the ship sailed from Southampton, Eng., on Dec. 26, 1918, and the men landed in the Nova Scotian capital city five days later, having had a good voyage. He was discharged at Montreal on Washington's birthday, 1919, and soon started for good old Norway. The Norway Advertiser said that he was at home from war, but didn't publish any story of his war experience, so I told him I would send you something about it.

From Norway, he went to Haverhill, Mass., where he got a job; then worked in the Connecticut cities of New Haven and Hartford, and in February of this year came to Lynn and got a job as janitor in one of the buildings of the great General Electric Company plant. He has joined the American Legion in Lynn.

Fred says that when he gets old and feeble, he probably will try to go back to Norway to end his days there, but that time is a long ways off. The old town is a good place to live, in his estimation, as well as in mine.

Also Saw Herman Paragard

I have run across Herman L. Paragard once since working in Lynn. We met on the street one morning. He seems in extra fine condition, and is a clean, up-standing man, who looks like a credit to the community. He is a foreman in a Chelsea shoe factory, so that he is usually out of Lynn at the time that I am in that city.

The Mann Girls, Bertha and Jennie

Mrs. Bertha Mann Petersen of Quincy and Mrs. Jennie Mann Kneeland of West Somerville, sisters, are second cousins of my wife, and I see them occasionally. They both claim to be cross because I have never visited their homes, but my wife does that part of the family duty. I have made only one social call at a home in the nearly eight years since coming to Somerville. It is difficult enough to go when I have an errand, and practically impossible when there is none, but I plan to get over to Cambridge in a few weeks and see my invalid cousin, Miss Eva Henrietta Norcross, who lived in Canton, Me., 50 years ago.

But I was trying to write about the Mann girls. Well, Mrs. Petersen looks nicely and her baby, the one of the youngest children who could be found in a day's journey.

My wife assures me that Mrs. Kneeland's baby, Walter Mann Kneeland, "is just one beautiful boy," and that the parents have reason for pride. By the way, that baby's father, Ralph Kneeland, was a Norway boy, and the sort of man which it is a satisfaction to count among one's relatives, even if only by marriage. He is prospering and takes good care of his family, in which respect I imagine that he is simply living up to the expectations of his friends in the good old town.

Saw Rev. Ralph J. Haughton

I saw and heard Rev. Ralph J. Haughton, formerly of South Paris, at the Suffolk North Congregational Association meeting in the Winter Hill Church on the evening of April 14. He is beginning to appear old, looked haggard and worn and his voice seemed rather high pitched, as if it was only by an effort that he could make himself heard. When the meeting was over, he hurried away, and as I was at the other side of a large church, he was gone before I could get through the hundreds in the crowd to speak to him.

He has been located in Montreal, but recently accepted a call to this region. One person told me to North Cambridge and another said to Winthrop, and either is likely for both churches have been without pastors. He will be fairly sure to come across my path within a few months, anyway.

Osman Warren Brown

I see Osman Warren Brown daily, for he works at the next desk, and is a diligent, capable and companionable worker. His wife and their sturdy little son come into the office every week and sometimes oftener, and they know enough to keep out of the way, which is something that cannot be said of all the frequent visitors to daily newspaper news rooms. Why is it, I wonder, that such visitors always select the busy hours of the day to make social calls, and will persist in it?

Now, don't you or anybody else, take this as a hint to keep away. If you are in Lynn come in, and I will say at least "How do?" and be glad to see you.

Sending Visitors to Oxford County While I am writing this letter, it is a good time to make some inquiries about how to reach Greenwood ice caves and Albany Basins. I have been boasting about these natural wonders of Oxford County, and some of my well-to-do friends have announced their intention of visiting those sights when vacationing in Maine this year. They are the sort of folks who will put up at the Poland Spring House, and will want to have arrangements made in advance.

I could tell some people to go to Norway and hunt around the town and find somebody to direct them to the ice caves or the basins, and then when arrived in the vicinity of the great natural wonders to make some inquiries till they should find somebody who would show them about. But these people are not that kind. Now that I have told them about the places, it is up to me to do the rest as far as finding out the how of it is concerned.

They will want to make arrangements by mail in advance, and start in the morning with the assurance of the right parties being on hand to meet them and show them about. I don't know to which they should go for either the caves or the basins, and I want to ask you to help me find out. Will somebody please write and tell your paper or write to me, and then I can pass the word along to the parties.

Right here, I wish to remark that the State ought to own both the ice caves and the basins. They are natural wonders, such as should be part of the heritage of the people and accessible to all the people. Not only should the State own them, but the State should have them both reached by special automobile route between Norway and Bethel, and should have a small inn at each place where travelers could find food and temporary shelter. There should be suitable equipment in the way of rubber, creosote, rubber coats and warm wraps ready for visitors to the caves.

Two State parks should be established there, and a third should include the top of Speckled Mountain in Grafton and the famous pond on the mountain, which pond is the highest body of water in eastern North America.

In suggesting this I am merely proposing that Maine take advantage of her natural glories in the same way that other or some other Oxford County political aspirant might do well to take up such a project as a part of his personal political platform.

This is long enough for one letter. I hope that your readers may find it a fraction as interesting to them as it is to the writer.

And We Believe There Are 63,000,000 Hens in the Old U. S.

The following editorial appeared in the New York Evening Mail January 5—think it over!

LAYING EGGS TO MUSIC

Fast on the heels of several important or important-if-true scientific discoveries that have gob-littered the columns of the public prints since the romanant of the interstitial gland saw the light, comes a significant announcement from Indiana, the exact literary center of the United States.

A farmer, having discovered a phonograph in his spare sock on Christmas morning, inadvertently permitted his hens to listen to the music it produced. The results of the impromptu musical mornings have astonished and delighted him. His hens, only tolerable layers in the old musicless days, have begun to double their output.

This Indiana farmer—Habig is his euphonious stage name—now not only permits the hens to overhear the music as the phonograph grinds out its notes in the kitchen, as he used to do, but he has installed a phonograph right in the hen house, where 122 Oringtons and Plymouth Rocks, Buff Cochins and Brahmas dwell together in peaceful industry. The result is that, whereas formerly he gathered 65 eggs in one day, he now collects 115.

It must be carefully noted, also, that the music furnished to the denizens of Habig's hen house is jazz—only jazz, to the entire exclusion of the higher forms of musical art. We would suggest that Mr. Habig develop his remunerative experiments further by subjecting his hens to the elevating influences of such classic selections as Dvorak's Symphony No. 3, in F major, Opus 76; the Bach Concerto in G minor, Opus 26; "Sounds of the Forest," from Wagner's "Siegfried," and Beethoven's Sonata, Opus 57.

We are confident that these works would impart to the fruit of Mr. Habig's spiritually stimulated hens arpeggio effects and pizzicato nuances that would open new worlds of emotional uplift to the ultimate consumers thereof.

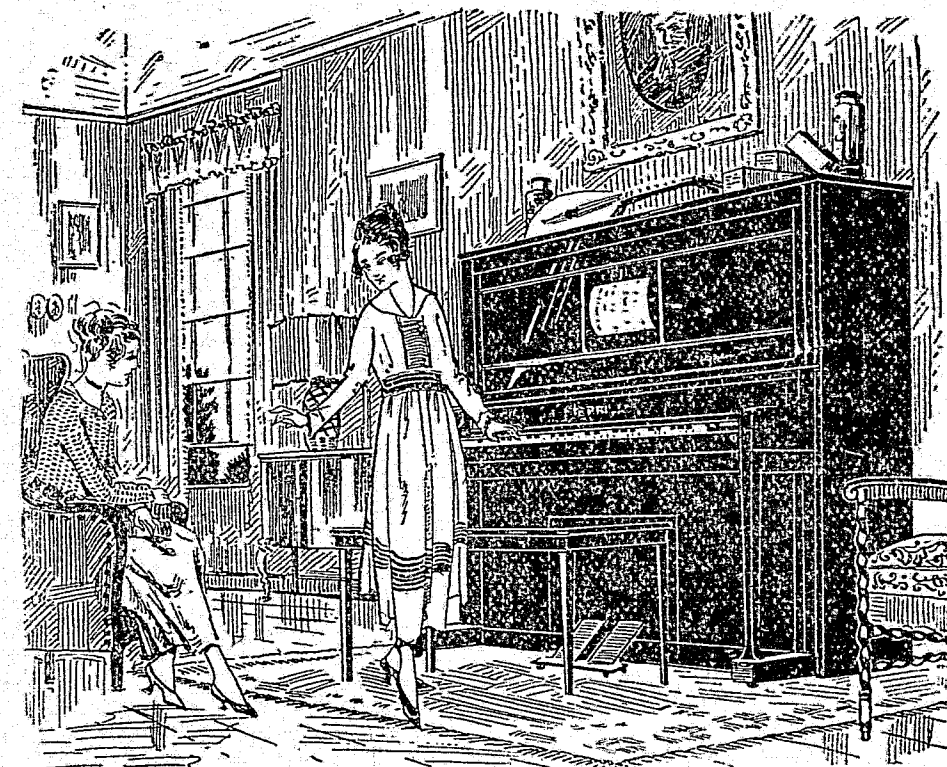

We await from Mr. Habig interesting disclosures of the possibilities of the higher forms of music upon the languid hen that hesitates on the verge of being lost in the sterile region of parastical unproductiveness.

Had Almost Lost Hope, But Tanlac Builds Her Up. Troubles Disappear

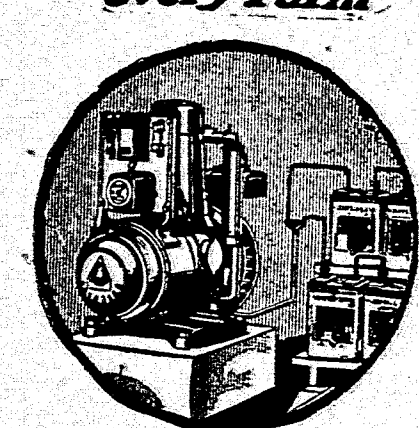

"I had lost all hope of ever being well again when I began taking Tanlac for I had been troubled seven years; but now I am enjoying the very best of health," was the statement made just a few days ago by Mrs. John G. Strout, who formerly lived at South Portland, but who now resides at Yarmouthville, Maine.

"It was about seven years ago that I began to be troubled with indigestion," continued Mrs. Strout, "and for the past year my condition has been so bad that I have not been able to eat a single good meal. What little I did force myself to eat caused terrible pains in my stomach and chest and so much gas would form that I would have to lie down before I could get relief after nearly every meal. I had rheumatism in my hips and limbs and the pains were so bad that I could hardly get up the steps. I was so nervous and miserable all the time that I could get only a little rest or sleep. It was impossible for me to do my housework at times and I felt so tired and weak that I couldn't walk any distance without giving out. I tried many different medicines and treatments but none of them helped me and I was beginning to wonder where it was all going to end."

"A friend of mine had taken Tanlac and she told me what it had done for her, so I decided right then that I would try it too. And now I am certainly thankful to her for telling me about Tanlac for after all these years I have at last found just the thing I have been needing. I have finished four bottles and my appetite is fine that it just looks like I can't get enough to eat and I digest everything without any bad effects at all. The rheumatism has disappeared entirely and Thanksgiving I went out for a long walk and didn't feel tired when I got back, and a year ago I would have had to go to bed. My nerves are steady and I sleep sound at night and get up every morning feeling so refreshed that my housework is a real pleasure to me. I have not only gained ten pounds, but I am stronger than I've been in years and I am only too glad to recommend the medicine that is responsible for my well and happy condition."

Tanlac is sold in Norway by A. L. Clark Drug Co., and in West Paris by S. T. White.

BUCKFIELD

Buckfield Water Co.

A decision was rendered by the public utilities commission today, ordering that the Buckfield Water, Power & Electric Light Company forthwith and in any event not later than June 1, 1920 substitute for its present schedule of water rates, a new schedule in which the rates to be charged shall not exceed those which were in effect Feb. 28, 1919, when a schedule proposing an increase was filed with the commission.

"This company has a relatively small income and a few customers," says the decision of the public utilities commission.

"There does not seem to be any probability of increasing the number of such customers," continues the decision.

"Some of the customers object seriously to any increase as to rates as proposed by the company. We do not know how the company and the people of Buckfield will be able to work this matter out. The commission will be very glad indeed to offer any suggestions possible, but in the present matter we are called upon to deal only with the question of rates. The matter of service is involved only to the extent of ascertaining, first, whether the service is of a character which is adequate and would justify an increase in rates if they were found necessary, or second, whether the service is of a character that must be improved before any increase in rates is justified.

"The situation disclosed does not authorize any increase in rates and it is for the company and its customers to work out a reasonable plan under which with adequate service the increased investment necessary can be supported and perhaps a reasonable increase in rates justified. "It may be well to say a word with reference to the matter of fire protection if adequate fire protection were being given. The company is at this time receiving a gross revenue of about $2800. If adequate fire protection was being given, the town should be paying something like $900 instead of $700. If the town desires adequate fire protection as well as reasonable domestic service some way must be found to remedy the defects in the present system. It may be that the town itself or some of its citizens will feel impelled to take hold and assist the company in working out a reasonable solution."

Hydro-Electric Power Brings Factories and Prosperity!

What chances had Norway and South Paris to get industries before Central Maine Power Company purchased the Oxford Electric Company?

Within a few months the lines of the Oxford Company will be connected through the Androscoggin Company, with the Central Maine Power Company. Power developed at Skowhegan, or at East Orland, will be available in Norway and South Paris.

Any guarantee of unlimited, reliable power that Norway and South Paris makes to secure new industries, will have behind it the 18 hydro-electric power stations and the six steam reserve stations of the Central Maine Power Co.

To insure adequate power, Central Maine Power Company is building a new power station at Skowhegan. It is financing this development by the sale of its preferred stock—chiefly to its own customers.

When you invest in this security, you get not only great safety, but you aid in building up your own town and your own State. You are laying the foundation for getting more shops and factories to locate here. You are helping to build up your own business. You are adding to the value of your real estate holdings. You are helping to increase the taxable property and hence cut down the amount you pay for taxes.

Beautify Woodstock

Woodstock is naturally one of the most beautiful towns in western Maine, situated as we are in the midst of the Oxford hills with our beautiful Lake Christopher and Mt. Christopher rising abruptly from the western shore, a picture formed which would be hard to equal in all the east. Our village homes and farm homes compare very favorably with other towns and, as good citizens, let us use to the best of our ability to keep our town as it is always kept neat and attractive, putting on its spring attire and looking its very best, for soon summer guests will be with us and streams of tourists will be passing through Woodstock over the state highway.

Beauty is one of the greatest assets a town can possess. It attracts summer residents, it attracts permanent residents and is a constant source of satisfaction to its citizens. Woodstock is already a beautiful community and it is by united effort we can make it still more beautiful and attractive we are taking another forward step in the march of progress. For this purpose our Chamber of Commerce is organizing a clean-up week, beginning May 10. A program has been arranged and it is hoped that every citizen will do their bit to clean up the old town and make Woodstock shine. Rake up the lawns, set out shade trees, pick up rubbish, cut away bushes, repair gates and fences, paint up the buildings, in fact anything great or small which will make our little town look more attractive.

In these days of automobiles a town is not judged wholly by its business center or village for hundreds of people are daily passing by the farms of Woodstock and neat attractive well kept farm homes are always a credit to any town. While a program has been arranged the committee in charge do not expect that it will be possible for everyone to follow the program as outlined but all of us can each do what we can to make the week a success. Some of us perhaps with more time to spare can do more than others, but we can each do our bit and united we cannot fail to make a great change for the better. Many times in the past the people of Woodstock have shown what united effort can do. Let us show again what it will do and work together to make clean-up week a grand success. It is up to us.

EVERY minute a battery works there is evaporation going on, but it affects the water only—never the acid. No matter how old the battery may be it has its full supply of acid, and that acid keeps its strength unless some of it happened to spill out. Water is the only thing that should ever be put into your battery and only enough of that to keep the solution within a quarter-inch of the tops of the plates.

"The Missing Link of a Ford"

A "Bulldog" eliminates all possibility of injury in cranking your engine—in fact, does everything in starting your car that the high-price electric starters do. But—Does not consume any gasoline. Does not take any power from your motor. Does not wear out high-price batteries. Does not cost anything to maintain. Always ready, and will start a Ford at any and all times under any climatic condition. No battery, no springs, no ratchet—the three things that have made starters for Ford cars inefficient and costly of upkeep. This is purely a friction device, and must be seen to be understood and appreciated.

Mother and Children Grateful

In East Boston, Mass., at 23 Lanson Street, a contented family of three children and the mother live, daily thanking in silence the kind neighbor who helped them when they were sick. Mrs. Nellie Woodford is the mother and she writes the following letter to Dr. J. F. True & Co.: "Having heard about your medicine from my neighbors and druggist, I wondered if your Dr. True's Elixir wasn't what I needed. I am a hard-working woman, working six hours every day for the Penn Realty Trust Company in Boston. Besides this work I use a lot of strength. Besides this looking after my home and the care of my three children and me out."

I guess my nerves got out of kilt first. I worried a lot, and seemed to get tired easily. I lost my appetite. I was ever taken with dizzy spells, my eyes got blurred, and I soon found I had to stay home from work. I didn't do any housework but the rest didn't do any good. I always had one special doctor for myself and children, but he was out of town when I was sick. I took medicine from the druggist which my friends brought in, but nothing did any good. My bowels were out of order. My breath bad, and I was shaky all over. Worst of all the terrible headaches came. It seemed I had suffered years before your Dr. True's Elixir was brought in to me by a neighbor."

After a short time I began to cheer up and be myself again. My bowels were soon in order and I noticed that the dizzy spells had left me. I think your Elixir worked. I am working every day now getting stronger and picking up my appetite. I feel full of gratitude toward Dr. True's Elixir."

The children sometimes eat things which don't agree with them, when I am not around to see, and then cramps and constipation follow. I just get out my little bottle of Dr. True's Elixir and find no trouble in getting them to take some. It is easy to take. Their bowels are soon all right. It may interest you to know that recently my youngest child was terribly sick and it was a serious case. We all have your Elixir to thank for relief."

Signs of worms are: Constipation, hardened bowels, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, and occasional pains, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nostrils, and short dry coughs, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on the tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever. If your children show any of these symptoms, start giving Dr. True's Elixir, The Family Laxative and Worm Expeller at once. It has done wonders for children and grownups since 1851. AT ALL DEALERS.
